

Here, you will find information about organizations, universities, foundations, and other groups that have developed different tools for the design of logic models.

Organization	Description	Website
W.K. Kellogg Foundation Logic Model Development Guide	This website provides basic and useful information on how to develop a theory of change for community organizations.	http://www.wkkf.org/resource-directory/resource/2006/02/wk-kellogg-foundation-logic-model-development-guide
Child Welfare Information Gateway Logic Model Builder	Designed for organizations working on child welfare issues, this website offers information and a tool to build a logic model step-by-step.	https://www.childwelfare.gov/topics/management/effectiveness/logic-model/?hasBeenRedirected=1
University of Wisconsin Extension: Program Development and Evaluation	In this section of this website you can find a step by step tool to design a logic model.	http://www.uwex.edu/ces/pdande/evaluation/evallogicmodel.html
University of Minnesota CYFERnet.org	This is an interactive website that includes a video about logic models and links to other useful resources.	https://cyfernetsearch.org/what-logic-model
University of Arizona	This website provides a concept, a basic tool, and examples of logic models.	http://extension.arizona.edu/evaluation/content/program-planning-using-logic-model
National Libraries of Medicine Guide 5: Define How a Program Will Work- The Logic Model	Here, you can find general and simple information on how to develop a logic model plus links to other website resources.	http://nnlm.gov/outreach/community/logicmodel.html
The Pell Institute and Pathways to College Network: Evaluation Toolkit - Using a Logic Model	Here, you can find a step by step tool to design a logic model.	http://toolkit.pellinstitute.org/evaluation-guide/plan-budget/using-a-logic-model/