

This table includes additional resources focused specifically on theory of change. It includes documents from organizations and links to non-profits who offer services to help others develop their own theory of change.

Organization	Description	Website
The Annie E. Casey Foundation: Theory of Change	This website provides basic and useful information on how to develop a theory of change for community organizations.	http://www.aecf.org/resources/theory-of-change/
Harvard Family Research Project: The Evaluation Exchange	This website offers new lessons and emerging strategies for evaluating programs and policies, particularly those focused on children, families, and communities.	http://www.hfrp.org/evaluation/the-evaluation-exchange/issue-archive/evaluation-methodology/an-introduction-to-theory-of-change
Grant Craft: Mapping Change: Using Theory of Change to Guide Planning and Evaluation	This document is part of a series focused on evaluation techniques. It is free to download and to use.	http://www.grantcraft.org/guides/mapping-change
Keystone Accountability	This organization offers services to organizations that are interested in developing new ways of planning, measuring and reporting on their results.	http://www.keystoneaccountability.org/
Center for Theory of Change	This non-profit offers services for organizations and has a particular focus on its use and application in the areas of international development, sustainability, education, human rights and social change.	http://www.theoryofchange.org/